

Australian
National University

ANU Library

Special Online Information Edition

Personal Library Services News

AUGUST 2021

Message from the University Librarian

Welcome to this special edition of our Personal Library Services News. The Library want you to know that even with the current restrictions on movement and physical access, we are still here to assist you in getting started with your research. The Library website has large quantities of information in formats other than physical books and this newsletter focuses on helping you access special activities and collections despite your geographic location.

If you have any questions don't hesitate to email us – we will connect you to the most appropriate specialist Librarian who will answer your question, do email library.info@anu.edu.au at any time.

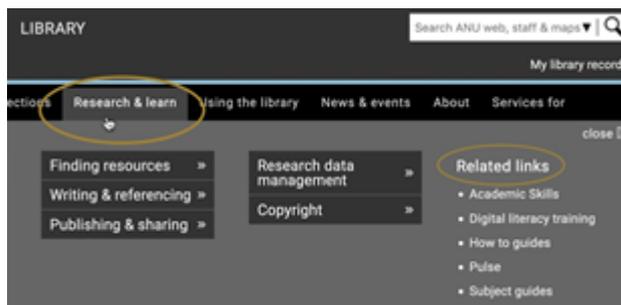

We look forward to supporting you in your research,

Roxanne Missingham, University Librarian

» view previous newsletters here

This is Coco and she is raising funds for guide dogs during August.

The place to start

The ANU Library continually updates and expands our online information and access to digital material.

The ANU Library How-to Guides can assist you to further refine your research processes. You can find the Guides under the Research and Learn tab on the ANU Library home webpage.

Are your books due soon?

You can re-new your books online by going to your 'My Library Record' in the top left corner of the Library home page. If for some reason you cannot do this, please email library.info@anu.edu.au — be sure to give you ANU ID number and the full title of the books.

Until the year settles and we are back to business as usual, ANU Library is waiving overdue book fines. See Library Fines & Charges and Covid-19 Support for more information or if you receive an overdue notice, please email library.info@anu.edu.au

Click & Collect

While the Click & Collect service is limited at present, you can still request a book from any Library branch and you will be able to pick up your book from outside the JB Chifley Library on Monday and Wednesday from 11am to 1pm.

More Getting Started Help

ANU Library staff provide HDR reference consultations via Zoom, Adobe Connect, over the telephone or by email.

You can find contact information on the Contacts and feedback page, including general contact points and subject-specialist staff.

To see the range of offerings from our Digital Literacy Training and Academic Skills visit the 'Research & Learn' section on the Library website or select the links above.

ANU Library online resources

Regardless of where you are in the world, your ANU login gives access to an extensive range of online materials.

Finding resources

Don't forget SuperSearch, Databases and E-Resources, and full text E-Journals, all available at anulib.anu.edu.au including Early English Books on Line and Proquest Full Text Dissertations and Theses.

Other ANU scholarly resources

ANU Press has over 60,000 academic titles all of which are available and free to download.

With more than 100,000 works, ANU Open Research is a valuable free resource which includes ANU theses.

Library News can provide interesting and useful tips and information about what the ANU Library has to offer.

Online assistance

ANU Library resources, guides and online training are all accessible to ANU students. These resources include:

Finding books and more

This guide will equip you with the skills needed to find a vast range of books and other materials using the ANU Library's online catalogue.

Using Google scholar from off-campus

This guide is for off-campus users to ensure Google Scholar is set up to include links to material held in the ANU Library collection.

Advanced Research: using ANU Library Databases

The ANU Library's collection contains roughly 6.5 million digital items, accessed via a broad range of scholarly databases and full text e-journals.

Finding journal articles and more

This how to guide will help you use scholarly journals to find relevant journal articles and enhance and broaden your existing knowledge of a subject

Finding theses

This guide will help you find the ANU, Australian, and international theses and dissertations you need to further your research.

Citations & abstracts

This guide covers how to create a citation that contains the information required to identify sources (published or unpublished items such as a books.

Digital Essentials

This consultation is intended for beginners and those unfamiliar with using ANU systems. The appointment covers essential digital skills for studying.

Archives finding aids

Introduces researchers to searching for topics covered in the archives collections.

New COVID-19 guidelines

Keep up to date with the latest COVID-19 guidelines and ask questions on the ANU COVID-19 webpage. Also remember to use the QR code check-in when entering the buildings on campus.

ANU Support

If you feel you need support call the ANU Crisis Line. All calls are confidential. You can call the ANU Crisis Support Line 5pm to 9am weekdays, 24/7 weekends and public holidays.

Phone: 1300 050 327 (voice calls only)

Text: 0488 884 170

Connect with the ANU Library

- View previous newsletters
- Read more information about our Personal Librarian service
- Keep up-to-date by reading ANU Library News
- Follow us on social media:

